Please to register your letters containing remittances, as we hold ourselves responsible for all losses to us when letters are registered. We are not responsible for losses in the mails, should they occur, unless letters are registered.

☞ The New York Tribune avows itself for the freedom of the press. So all the world are for the freedom of the press; but then there are limits to this freedom. There are no limits on our side. It is all right and proper to indulge in the widest latitude of discussion in behalf of our party; but such latitude can't well be allowed to our opponents. It is inconvenient and dangerous to the State. For the public good, the errors of our opponents should be repressed. Should a man be allowed to propagate error and poison the minds of the people with his plausible sophistries?

Let truth be spoken and written, and nothing but truth, and our side, being always right, are the proper judges of what truth is. If we have the power, we are responsible for the evil others may do in propagating error if we tolerate it.

It may be said that we can only arrive at truth by discussion; but that is admitting that we may be wrong—a very preposterous admission, which the genuine partisan can never make. He is infallible; he is conscientious; he has convictions; he could not be wrong. Facts and arguments that are in his way make him indignant.

Early in the history of this Government a party felt aggrieved at the rough comments of the opposition, and they made a law to punish by fine and imprisonment any one who, by speech or writing, brought the proper authorities into contempt. Why should not the virtuous and intelligent protect themselves from the assaults of the wicked and ignorant?

The theory prevalent in the United States until lately was, that men might advocate truth or error at pleasure; that our people had intelligence and virtue enough to decide tolerably well between them; that truth was stronger than error, and would triumph before a free people; that there was, therefore, no danger in free speech or a free press. If the people are sovereign, they ought to be able to hear all sides, and it would be all the worse for error the more it is heard.

This theory would do for a fallible people who were never certain they were right; who were weak enough to be compelled to hear both sides of every question to see which was right; and who needed this everlasting debate to keep tolerably straight.

The past generations of this country have generally been of this class of people, and the theory is not disavowed yet.

In the meantime, however, we have been making progress. A party in this country have got far enough along in virtue and intelligence to need no discussion or debate. They have an infallible President and an infallible Congress. When they decide, let all the world be silent. Since the advent of this party it is plain that the old theory and practice can be and ought to be dispensed with. If we can know the right way, by consulting the oracles of infallibility, it is worse than useless to engage in endless debate and wranglings to arrive at the truth.

The infallibles can keep up a little sparring amongst themselves for exercise, but a direct opposition is useless and pestilent.

For the sake of weak minds that may go astray, these sophistries and errors ought to be dried up. There is no danger that the faithful will be harmed. They are impervious to logic or facts; but the masses are frail, or at least imperfect, and ought not to be allowed to read certain newspapers that would, if possible, deceive the very elect. These imperfectly developed people must be taken care of; pernicious reading or hearing should be kept from them, and wholesome diet administered.

These infallibles are republican. They are for a democratic government; but, of course, they mean that a majority of infallibles shall rule. Outside sinners are not to have any hand in the matter. One tenth man, if he be of the infallible party, is to rule nine-tenths of the fallible, sinful class; the latter, if need be, to be silenced or exterminated.

This new doctrine is, in fact, neither new nor original. By making progress in a circle, we have only come upon an older and better way that people traveled in old times, and that some of the more fortunate of countries have never departed from. The powers that be are ordained of God, and not to be annoyed by logic, theories, speculations and philosophies. At all such times and in all such places speech has been free, and the press too, where there was a press—free to advocate and defend and illustrate the right, what the infallible powers that were had decided to be right. What better freedom does a man want? What other is he entitled to? The very desire to advocate error and wrong proves that a man has a perverse head or depraved heart, and he ought not to be free to indulge his propensities at the expense and cost of the proper authorities.

The Pharisees understood this when they said, "If thou let this Man go, thou art not Cesar's friend," and the Pro Consul could not parry such a home thrust. These Pharisees were of the infallible school in their day. They, too, were progressive, we presume, and despised other people as none but infallibles can.

About the same time there lived another teacher who said, when men were arrested for preaching Christianity: "Refrain from these men, and let them alone; for, if this be of man, it will come to naught; but if it be of God, ye cannot overthrow it, lest, haply, ye be found to fight against God." He had made progress, too, and had got to that part of the circle, long before we had any fathers, which they occupied.

It will be seen, then, how Greeley and his school are for free discussion. A man is free to advocate the right side of a controversy, and they are judges of the right side. This does not allow of freedom to support error. A man has no right to defend the wrong. Those who know the right and have the power ought to stop him, or they will be partakers of his sins. This is not in accordance with the notions of free speech and a free press that formerly obtained in this country. As no party claimed infallibility, and as either might be right or wrong, all parties were alike free. A party in power then had no right to silence an opponent, and did not presume to do it. This was the natural result of the admitted fallibility of all parties. It is obvious the whole practice must cease as soon as one party that had all the wisdom, virtue, capacity and religion, obtained power. Freedom of discussion, except on the right side, would then not only be useless but pernicious.

We have taken the trouble to explain how this party are for free speech and a free press, for they have never explained it themselves, and sometimes don't seem to comprehend it. Besides, some people who recollect the theory of free speech and a free press that formerly prevailed, are startled at this claim when they recollect the practices of the party. We hope they will understand what they mean, and that other people will understand them.

☞ The Union Press says we have compromised away our declarations of independence and our professions of Christianity. As to the declaration of independence, it was made by very earnest men, and they lived up to what they meant, although they were nearly all slaveholders. The error now is not in them, but in the party that perverts their meaning.

But the declaration of independence was itself a compromise. A godforesaken slaveholder inserted in the first draft of that instrument a denunciation of King George for his support of the slave trade, but the ancestors of the present progressives voted it out. Jefferson said the New England men did not want African slaves themselves, but they supplied those who did—that is, they were slave-traders.

Jefferson and others had to compromise, and they compromised away a principle. They compromised conscience. Alas, for them! It is no harm to compromise a compromise, and a compromise with sin.

The Union Press ought not to scoff at compromises. In 1861 the editors were either rebels or they compromised with the men in this State who were equally tenacious of Federal and State rights; who were pledged to stand by both; who promised the people that State laws and constitutions should not be disturbed. The President and all his present supporters made the same pledge. The editors of the Press were parties to this damnable compromise. At that time the editors of the Union Press laid low and kept dark about their consciences and the convictions they talk about. They compromised with sinners to gain a point. Even now they are compromising. They will give a negro what they call natural rights, and deny him conventional rights. They will grant him one right, and then make a wordy distinction, when there is no difference, to refuse him another.

They are compromising again; but they broke one compromise with us, and they will not have a chance to break another. The conscience, too tender to compromise, but tough enough to break a compromise after one has made it, is about such a conscience as his Satanic Majesty boasts of.

So far from scoffing at compromises, we are ready to compromise now with the worst of all parties for peace and a restoration of the country. We will compromise with shoddyites, with the swindlers of the Government, with the festering hordes of corruption that abound in masses of putridity. We would now compromise with rebels whose ill conduct has made the opportunity for all the Satanic depravity.

It is our private opinion that thousands, if they had their deserts, would be hung; but we are not authorized to judge and punish the crimes of communities. And we don't know who is. We know of no Government that has a divine right to rule a people, that can set itself up to judge and punish the crimes of millions.

Let those eschew compromise who are divinely inspired, whose self-conceit and self-righteousness feel nothing in themselves to be forgiven; who assume the prerogative of God to judge millions of mankind and despise others.

NEW BOOKS.—We have received from F. A. Crump several very interesting books published by Carlton, New York. The first is by T. S. Arthur, the popular writer upon domestic life, entitled "Nothing but Money." It involves, in a pleasantly told way, the causes of dispute between a young wife and husband, and to those who wish to learn how to quarrel with their better halves and how profitless it is, it will be very entertaining.

The second is a little gem called by the modest name of Ballads, and contains some choice poems by Amelia B. Edwards. The binding and paper are excellently beautiful, and the book itself a jewel set in gold.

"The Snob Lace Ball" is a satirical poem taking off shoddy in the Eastern cities.

The "Railroad Almanac," from some enterprising publishers, contains, in addition, a fund of interesting information upon a variety of subjects. It is especially valuable to those interested in railroad and insurance companies, and should be upon their tables.

CABBAGES AND WHISKY.—Some enterprising smuggler at St. Louis, the other day, put up nine hogsheads of cabbages and concealed among them fifteen kegs of whisky, and sent the freight to the steamer Mollie Able for shipment to Vicksburg. The cabbages, it is supposed, imbibed the whisky, which set their heads to reeling in such a manner that the attention of the custom-house officers was attracted to the hogsheads, and the whisky was discovered and confiscated on Saturday. Ditto cabbage heads.

NEW COUNTERFEIT.—A new counterfeit United States Treasury note, of the denomination of five dollars, is now afloat. It is poorly executed, the engravings being quite coarse and rough in appearance. The goddess of liberty, on the left hand end of the note, and the ground work around the figure 5 on the upper right hand corner, are very poorly engraved and present a dim and mixed appearance. The green on the back is of an indifferent shade and unlike the genuine.

BOX OF BONES.—A box of human bones arrived at St. Louis on Saturday on the North Missouri railroad. The Chief of Police, not being able to make anything out of them, turned the box over for the Coroner to sit on.

ECLIPSES.—There will be four eclipses this year—two of the sun and two of the moon. The eclipses of the sun occur on the 25th of April and the 15th of October; those of the moon on the 11th of April and 21st of October.

☞ Two white men were put in prison a few days since in St. Louis for whipping a negro. Just as we expected.

GOING HOME.

They are going—ever going;
Jesus called them long ago;
All the wintry time they're passing
Softly as the falling snow.
When the violets in the springtime
Catch the azure of the sky,
They are carried ont to slumber
Sweetly where the violets lie.

They are going—ever going,
When the summer earth is dressed,
In their cold hands holding roses
Folded to each silent breast.
When the autumn hangs red banners
Out above the forest sheaves,
They are going—ever going,
Thick and fast, like falling leaves.

They are going—ever going
Out of pain and into bliss,
Out of sad and sinful weakness
Into perfect holiness.
Snowy brows, no care shall shade them;
Bright eyes, tears shall never dim;
Rosy lips, no time shall fade them;
Jesus calls them unto Him.

Little hearts forever stainless,
Little hands as pure as they,
Little feet by angels guided
Never a forbidden way!
They are going—ever going,
Leaving many a lonely spot;
But 'tis Jesus who has called them;
"Suffer, and forbid them not."

☞ The following article on the Kentucky Agricultural College, the bill for the establishment of which has excited much discussion in our Legislature, is from the pen of a distinguished citizen of the State, and presents the subject in a clear, impartial and forcible light. It will amply compensate a careful perusal:

KENTUCKY AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE—A FULL PRESENTATION OF THE SUBJECT.

FRANKFORT, Feb. 20, 1865.

To the Editors of the Louisville Democrat:

There has been a studied attempt on the part of some to misrepresent the provisions of the bill which has recently passed the General Assembly, establishing the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Kentucky. The House passed the bill by a vote of 64 to 18, and the Senate by a vote of 20 to 10. The discussion upon it in each House was full and extended, the ablest members of either body participating in the discussion. It was discussed in the House in the Committee of the Whole, by Hon. M. C. Johnson and Attorney General Harlan on behalf of the Transylvania University and Kentucky University, and by Hon. B. Mayfield and James D. Hardin on behalf of certain citizens of Mercer. Having passed the House, it was referred to the Judiciary Committee of the Senate, who were occupied several days in hearing the evidence and argument of counsel. The Senate, after elaborate discussion, passed the House bill without any amendment, by a vote of two to one. I allude to these facts for the purpose of meeting the charge made by certain interested parties to the effect that the Legislature passed the bill without proper deliberation.

As a matter of interest to your readers I send for publication the bill in reference to the Agricultural College. I trust that every citizen of the Commonwealth will read it, for all are deeply interested in the institution of learning which will be established by this bill:

WHEREAS, The Curators of the Kentucky University propose to locate their University in Fayette county, in or near the city of Lexington, and said Curators and the Trustees of Transylvania University propose to consolidate the two Universities, and all the funds and property of each, into one corporation, under the name of the Kentucky University; and it appearing that said Curators have a cash endowment of two hundred thousand dollars, yielding an annual income of about seven thousand dollars, and that there are cash funds of Transylvania University, to be united with them, of fifty-nine thousand dollars, yielding an annual income of over three thousand five hundred dollars, besides the grounds, buildings, library apparatus, and other property of Transylvania University, of the value and cost, exceeding one hundred thousand dollars; and said institution, when so consolidated, proposes to raise an additional $100,000 to purchase a farm and erect all the necessary buildings and improvements to carry on the operations of an Agricultural and Mechanical College, and connect therewith a model or experimental farm, with industrial pursuits, to enable such pupils as may choose to do so to sustain themselves, in whole or in part, while acquiring their education; and further propose, that the State of Kentucky shall establish the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Kentucky as one of the colleges of Kentucky University thus consolidated, and endow the same with the income of the fund which shall arise from the sale of land scrip granted to Kentucky by the Congress of the United States for the purpose of establishing said college; and upon the State of Kentucky so establishing and endowing said college, the Curators of Kentucky University will furnish, in reasonable time, all the necessary lands, buildings, apparatus, &c., for such college, and proceed at once to organize said college as provided in this act, and said Curators, to aid them in conducting said college and defraying the expenses thereof, shall receive all the income of the fund which shall arise from the rate of the land scrip granted to the State of Kentucky by the act of Congress, entitled "An act donating public lands to the several States and territories which may provide colleges for the benefit of agriculture and mechanical arts," approved July 2, 1862, and which income shall be appropriated by said Curators to the payment of the salaries of the professors, and other officers and employes of said college, and other expenses of conducting the same, and the farm and industrial pursuits incidental thereto, and to no other purpose whatever: Provided, That a majority of the professors of said college shall not at any one time belong to the same ecclesiastical denomination.

Sec. 6 Be it further enacted, That the Governor, with the advice and consent of the Senate, shall appoint six visitors of said college, who shall constitute the Board of Visitors thereof, and appoint one of their number chairman of the Board; and said Board shall have, at all times, full power to inspect and examine into all the details of the managing and conducting of said college, and to see that all the provisions of this act are carried into complete effect, according to their true meaning and intent; and it shall be the duty of said Board to point out to the Curators of Kentucky University all defects or departures from the provisions of this act, in conducting and managing said college, and suggest the proper mode of correcting them, and said Curators shall proceed to correct them; and it shall be further the duty of said Board of Visitors to report to every biennial meeting of the General Assembly the condition and management of said college; and if, at any time, it shall appear to the General Assembly that the Curators have persisted in not carrying the provisions of this act into effect, according to their true objects and spirit, and in disregarding the requirements of the Board of Visitors, it shall be lawful to declare either temporarily or permanently, said college of the endowment of the income of the fund aforesaid. The Visitors shall hold their office for two years, and until their successors are appointed. Vacancies in said Board, by death, resignation or expiration of term of office, during the recess of the General Assembly, shall be filled by the Governor until the end of the next succeeding session.

Sec. 7. Be it further enacted, That so soon as the said college is organized for the reception and proper instruction of pupils, the Curators shall make known the same to the Governor and President of the Board of Education; and thereupon each representative district of the State shall be entitled to send to said college, free of charge for tuition, one properly prepared pupil for each member said district is entitled to elect to the General Assembly; and when the whole of said land scrip shall be sold and invested, each district shall be entitled to send three of such properly prepared pupils to said college for each member the district is authorized to elect. Said pupils shall have the right of receiving, free of charge for tuition, the benefit of any instruction given in any of the colleges or classes of the University, except those of law and medicine. The pupils shall be selected by the majority of the justices of the peace of said district.

Sec. 8 Be it further enacted, The provisions of this act shall not go into effect until Transylvania University and Kentucky University shall be consolidated into one corporation, under the name of the Kentucky University, and the funds, property, &c., of Transylvania University shall be vested in the Curators of Kentucky University, as successors of the Trustees of Transylvania University; nor until the Curators of Kentucky University shall, by resolution, assent to all the provisions of this act, and accept this act as part of its charter. A copy of said resolution, and of the action of the Trustees of Transylvania University, and the Curators of the Kentucky University, in accepting said consolidation, shall be laid before the Governor; whereupon he shall, by writing, signed by him, and under the seal of the State, authorize the Curators of the Kentucky University to organize the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Kentucky in pursuance of this act.

Sec. 9. The General Assembly reserves the right to modify and repeal, at pleasure, so much of this act as refers to the establishment of the Agricultural and Mechanical College.

Before calling attention specially to the provisions of this bill, it may be interesting to your readers to know the history of the Agricultural College now or about to be organized.

The Congress of the United States, by an act of July 2, 1862, donated public lands to the several States and territories which may provide colleges for the benefit of agriculture and the mechanic arts, in which should be taught such branches of learning as are related to agriculture and the mechanical arts, including military tactics, without excluding other scientific and classical studies, in order to promote the liberal and practical education of the industrial classes in the several pursuits and professions of life. The various States were required to accept the provisions of the above act within a certain specified time. Kentucky accepted the act on the 27th of January, 1863 (Sess. acts, 235), and, there being no public lands within her borders, scrip for 330,000 acres of land was issued to her, from the proceeds of which she was to endow and establish at least one college within a prescribed time. Each State was required to provide at least one college within five years from the date of the act of Congress, else she would forfeit her right to the land or land-scrip which had been donated to her.

The act of Congress contained an express prohibition upon the use of any part of the proceeds of the sale of the land-scrip for the purchasing of buildings, apparatus, &c., and also prohibited the use of more than one-tenth of these proceeds for the purchase of a model farm, upon which to erect the college buildings. In order, therefore, to provide a college as required by the act of Congress, it was necessary that the State should erect the necessary buildings by appropriations directly out of the public treasury; and she would have been required to meet, in the same way, all expenses requisite in the purchase of a model farm beyond the limited amount of the proceeds of the land-scrip authorized to be applied in that way.

The experience which the General Assembly had in regard to the expenses attending the erection of the State Charity Buildings, was sufficient to teach all that any attempt by the State to erect and maintain a State Agricultural College, to any extent, out of the public treasury, would involve an expenditure of more money than the people would submit to be taken from the treasury; and more than the condition of the country would authorize. It was, therefore, that the State Agricultural Board was directed, by an act of the General Assembly, approved March 2, 1863, "to examine and report to the next General Assembly upon the advantages of various localities, and the inducements offered by each for the location of a State Agricultural College."

On the 10th of December, 1863, the committee appointed by the Board of Directors of the State Agricultural Society made their report to the Legislature, which is as follows:

To the General Assembly of the State of Kentucky:

The Board of Directors of the State Agricultural Society, appointed Commissioners by an act of the Legislature of Kentucky, approved March 2, 1863, "to examine and report to the next General Assembly upon the advantages of various localities and the inducements offered by each for the location of a State Agricultural College," most respectfully state that, in obedience to the requirements of said act, they met in the city of Louisville in May, 1863, and passed a resolution directing its Secretary to advertise, in various public journals, that it was prepared to receive proposals, setting forth the advantages of various localities, and inducements offered by each, for the establishment of a State Agricultural College—all proposals to be delivered to the President of the State Agricultural Society on or before the 18th day of September, 1863.

On the 18th day of September, 1863, a full Board of Directors met on the Southwestern Agricultural Fair Grounds, near Louisville, when the President reported to the Board that he had received only one proposition, and that was from the Trustees of Transylvania University, which is situated near Lexington.

After full consultation and deliberation, in order that every portion of the State might have full time to present its claims and advantages for the location of the Agricultural College, the Board decided to advertise again—and so authorized their Secretary—and to defer final action on the subject until their next annual meeting on the 9th day of December, 1863.

The Board met on the 9th of December (instant), when the President reported that no other proposals had been received by him than those made by the Trustees of Transylvania University, and then laid before them a communication from the Hon. M. C. Johnson, Chairman of the Trustees of the University, which gives in detail the many and great advantages which the Trustees offer to the State, to enable it to carry out its purpose in the establishment of an Agricultural College. This communication we herewith file.

DEATH OF MR. BEN. M. ANDERSON.—We made mention a few days ago of the attempted suicide, in Cincinnati, of Mr. Ben. M. Anderson, of this city. He was at one time a Colonel in the Confederate army, but for some reason he came home, took the oath of allegiance and was set at liberty. When the Chicago conspirators were arrested, charged with attempting to destroy the city by fire, Col. Anderson, who was at that time in this city, was arrested and taken to Cincinnati for trial, charged with being implicated in the conspiracy. He was incarcerated in a cell in prison there, while the trial of the others was going on, and a few days since a Federal guard stepped into his cell, when, quick as thought, Col Anderson jumped towards him, snatched the soldier's pistol, and, placing the muzzle to his body, fired, the ball passing through his bowels. The wounded man lived forty eight hours, and expired. Before he died he expressed himself as not being afraid of death—that he would prefer being dead than disgraced with such a charge as had been put upon him. His remains arrived here on last before last for interment.

INQUEST No. 317—Held February 21, 1865, at the river bank back of Elm Tree Grove, on the body of a white man, name not known. Verdict—Came to his death from drowning. Said man is about five feet nine inches high, with dark chestnut hair and dark red whiskers; had on a black sack coat, check or hickory overshirt and gray flannel undershirt, gray pants and due boots, with a patch across inside corner of right boot. His remains will be kept in the vault at the Western Cemetery, on 4th street, between Six teenth and Seventeenth streets, until Thursday at 10 o'clock. Any one missing their friend will please call and see the body.

W. A. MYERS' COMMERCIAL COLLEGE.—We call attention to the very excellent institution, the advertisement of which will be found in another column. Nothing is more important to a young man fitting himself for business than the advantages offered by this institution. The branches are such as will be particularly valuable to the youth preparing himself for business, and the hours are arranged so as not to conflict with other engagements. Mr. Myers has long been engaged as a teacher, and is thoroughly qualified.

NEW FIRM.—We invite the attention of our readers and the public generally to the advertisement of Messrs. Hutchings, Duncan & Co. in another column of to-day's paper. They have established a large wholesale grocery and commission house on Main street, between Seventh and Eighth, where they have on hand a large and well-assorted stock of groceries, &c. They are clever gentlemen, and any business intrusted to their care will receive prompt and careful attention.

POLICE PROCEEDINGS.—Wednesday, Feb. 22
The first person presented before the court this morning was John Wakeman, charged with being drunk; he was fined $5.

Fred. Schaffer and Frank Hildebrand, assaulting Mary Schaffer; bail of each in $100 to answer.

Geo. Long, disorderly conduct; discharged

Adolph Myers, stealing mules; discharged.

TWENTY SECOND OF FEBRUARY.—Yesterday was the anniversary of the birth-day of Washington. It was almost totally unobserved by our citizens and the military authorities. There was a time when the anniversary of the birthday of the immortal Washington was sacredly observed; but alas! how time has changed men and things.

BARRACKS No 1.—Yesterday was a busy day at the Barracks. Bobby Brent kept his "goose-quill" driving all day. One hundred and fifty-five convalescents arrived from different points. Two hundred and nine men were forwarded to Nashville, seventeen to New York, twenty three to Cairo and five to St. Louis.

☞ Remember the matinee at the Louisville Theater, on Saturday afternoon, at 2½ o'clock, for the benefit of the family of the late Col. Jas. S. Wallace. We sincerely hope every one will lend their help and fill the house to overflowing.

☞ H. W. Cochran, Seventeenth Indiana, and John Higgins, Twenty-eighth Kentucky were arrested yesterday for being drunk and wearing citizens' clothes. Guardhouse for five days.

☞ Thomas Naugel, Second Massachusetts, and John Phillips, Twenty-fourth Ohio, were arrested yesterday for fighting. They will be sent to the field where they can fight the rebels.

☞ We noticed several citizens engaged yesterday in cleaning the mud away from before their doors. Up with your sideboards on the curbing, or you'll be swamped.

☞ A salute of one hundred guns was fired at Fort No. 1, yesterday, and thirty-five were fired at Fort No 4, by order of the post commander.

☞ Quite a number of soldiers were arrested yesterday for being on forbidden streets. They will be sent to their regiments immediately.

PERSONAL.—Lieut. Col. Will H. Coyl has returned to the city from Cincinnati, whither he has been on official business. He looks cheerful as ever.

☞ Mr. John Dugan, messenger of the Adams Express Company, has our thanks for Nashville papers.

☞ There was very little military news of importance yesterday. It was Washington's birthday.

☞ See advertisement of dray and team for sale in another column.

Amusements.

WOOD'S THEATER.—The matinee given at Wood's Theater yesterday for the benefit of the late Col. Wallace's family was, notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather, a complete success, the house being crowded, and hundreds were turned away, unable to gain admittance. To-night we are to have the interesting drama of The Stranger and the farce of the Little Rebel. In the first piece Miss Ada Gray appears as Mrs. Haller, and Mr. Albaugh as the Stranger.

LOUISVILLE THEATER.—Another fashionable audience greeted the celebrated Warren combination last night, and with each performance they continue to ingratiate themselves into the favor of our citizens by their admirable performances. To-night they appear in the sterling comedy of "She Stoops to Conquer," and the farce of "Dundicketty's Pic-Nic"

THE VARIETIES.—At the Varieties crowded houses continue to greet the new stars and old favorites. Miss Annie Bordwell, the queen of song, as she is so justly styled, and Mr. Warren Bordwell, are excellent in their line of business, and are destined to become favorites. Miss Lizzie Louise, the talented and fascinating commedienne, would put to blush many of the actresses at our leading theaters. Mr. J. L. Davis is a trump. Miss Clara Burton, danseuse, is good in her role; making the best company of artistes ever appearing at the Varieties. Don't fail to go. An entire change of programme this evening, as will be seen by referring to the advertisement.

MINSTRELS.—Skiff & Gaylord's Minstrels, one of the best troupes now traveling, will make their appearance at the Masonic Temple on Thursday evening, March 2d. They are spoken of by the press everywhere in terms of the highest praise.

CHANGE IN THE WARDS OF THE CITY.—We understand that the Legislature has passed an act changing the wards of the city and creating a new ward, to be known as the Twelfth The Tenth Ward has been so changed as to include that portion of the city lying between the west side of Tenth street and the east side of Fourteenth street The Eleventh Ward will contain that portion of the city lying west of Fourteenth street and east of Twenty first street north to Portland avenue, thence along the center of Bridge street to the Ohio river. The Twelfth Ward will contain all that portion of the city lying west of the Eleventh Ward. Our citizens living in the lower portion of the city should take notice of this change, as it will change some of the voting precincts at the coming election.

ARREST OF HORSE THIEVES.—Some time since a number of horses and mules belonging to W. McCallum, A. McMillen and Mr. Hays, was recovered in Hardin county, Ky., were stolen, and it was thought that the thieves had come in this direction, and the facts were consequently made known to the officers here and at New Albany, when at once set about to recover the stolen property and bring the guilty parties to justice. Two of the stolen horses were found in this city by officer Lunborne, but it was found that one or more of the thieves had crossed to Indiana, and Marshal Akers, of New Albany, was informed of the facts. He started in pursuit of the parties and arrested them some four miles below New Albany. Another of the party was arrested in this city. The two men arrested, Austin Myers and John Wertz, are now in the jail in this city.

☞ Major Kaye publishes in this morning's Democrat a "mode" to the effect that the bonds of the city will be issued to the amount of $210,000, as fast as they can be printed and filled up, which will be in a few days.

The bonds are for $1,000 each, with coupons attached for semi-annual payment of interest; one hundred of the bonds being payable in ten years and the other hundred in twenty years.

It is a safe and sure investment. Let our citizens invest.

Some time since we made mention that the Council had passed a resolution requesting the Legislature to so amend the charter of the city that the offices of Tax Collectors should be abolished, and the office of Tax Receiver created in their place, and that the Council should elect such a receiver. We understand that the Legislature has given to the Council the power to abolish the offices and create that of receiver, but that the receiver is to be elected by the people, and not by the Council.

PRESENTATION.—Last night the members of Compass Lodge of Free Masons presented Jno. H. Howe, he Master of the lodge, with a beautiful gold-headed cane. The cane was presented on behalf of the members of the lodge by Dr. Swan, S. D., in a very neat speech, which was replied to by Mr. Howe in a very eloquent and appropriate speech. The cane bears the inscription "From Compass Lodge to John H. Howe, W. M."

UNITED STATES COURT.—There was but little of interest transacted at this court yesterday that would be of interest to the city. In the case spoken of yesterday, the Judge decided that the parties did not have the authority to compromise the matter. The Court meets again at 10 o'clock this morning.

☞ The benefit of Miss Kitty Blanchard, at Wood's Theater Friday night, promises to be a most complete success. This young lady has labored hard to please our citizens, and we hope that she will be rewarded by a full house.

☞ The Mayor yesterday succeeded in putting in thirty-three recruits to the credit of the city's quota. The work goes bravely on, and if our citizens will but come forward and subscribe the twenty five dollars there will be no draft in our city.

MEETING OF THE COUNCIL TO-NIGHT.—Pursuant to adjournment both Boards of the General Council will meet at the City Hall at 7½ o'clock to night. As there will be business of importance before the Council, a full attendance is desired.

☞ Our readers should not forget that Mr. C. J. Heartwell takes a benefit at Masonic Temple on next Friday evening. The bill offered is a most excellent one, and, as Mr. Heartwell is an actor of merit, we hope that the house will be crowded.

FORT NO. 4.—Mike Mullen and Jerry Mourn were arrested yesterday and sent to Fort No. 4 for five days each. The former got on the drunk and the latter gave whisky to prisoners to make them drunk.

DESERTERS AND STRAGGLERS.—Twenty-one stragglers and deserters arrived at the Barracks on Main street yesterday from Schofield Barracks. A deserter was brought up from Nashville.

☞ A mammoth musk rat was killed by a gentleman night before last on Chestnut street, above Floyd. It is supposed it crawled from the old bed of the creek through a sewer.

☞ Fulton McCormack James Carroll and J. L. Smith, Company A, One Hundred and Fiftieth Illinois regiment, were arrested yesterday and ordered to be sent to their regiments.

SICK AND WOUNDED.—Six hundred and ten sick and wounded soldiers are to be forwarded to Washington City from the hospitals in this city this afternoon.

☞ A woman named Hannah Coyle was arrested yesterday and sent to the female military prison. She was caught selling whisky to soldiers for clothing.

☞ The One Hundred and Fifty-second regiment (new men) Illinois arrived here yesterday en route for the front.

☞ Eddie Baner has the Cincinnati Commercial and Gazette for sale.

☞ The trains on the Ohio and Mississippi railroad missed the connection again yesterday. What is the matter over the river?

☞ "COULDN'T SEE IT."—Some gentleman walked through one of the large glass doors at the bank on the corner of Bullitt and Main streets, a few evenings since. He never made the discovery until he came through it, and it cost him some change to make the discovery that the door was glass.

☞ Some little excitement was created at the Louisville Hotel yesterday morning in consequence of the burning out of a flue, which filled several rooms with smoke. No damage was done.

☞ The house occupied by Mr. H. G. Phillips, corner of Second and Main streets, is being altered and will have a bank established in it. When finished it will be a neat building.

☞ The matinee at Wood's Theater yesterday afternoon was well attended.

City Improvements.

Messrs Editors: Among the many city improvements creditable to our municipal authorities there is not one (involving small expense) so needed as the renumbering of the houses and putting up the names of the streets. This subject is now before the Board of Councilmen, and will be ordered and prosecuted at an early day, in a style worthy of our city.

The numbering, as in other cities, should begin with No. 1, east and west, at First street, also at the river, and run to the end of each street, in unbroken regularity, and numbering the vacant lots, so that new numbers can be put up in the future without the necessity of renumbering the city. The figures should be two inches in size, instead of one and a half, so that they may be seen across the streets. The letters for the streets ought to be at least three inches in size. Both should be painted in black figures on a white ground, with a border in black around. Done in this style, with good materials, by skillful and faithful hands, it will be both a beauty and a great convenience to our city.

Those who may desire larger numbers in gilt or fancy styles will cheerfully pay the additional expense.

Our Mayor and Councilmen, merchants, citizens and strangers are interested in this improvement.

OLD OBSERVER.

Meeting of the Committee of the County on the Subject of the Bounty Fund.

At a called meeting of the committee of the different precincts in the county, appointed at a meeting last Saturday, held this day, February 23d, Mr Lawrence Young was appointed chairman, and Geo. P. Doern, secretary.

Dr. E D. Sandiford was appointed committee from Spring Garden precinct.

The following resolutions were offered and adopted:

Resolved, That a committee of seven be appointed to act as a sub-committee to confer with the city committee in order to unite to fill the required quota. The following gentlemen were appointed: Lawrence Young, Maj J. G Balee, H. Frederick, Geo. P. Doern, Ed. Cannon, Wm. Murray and Judge A. Monroe.

Resolved, That this committee appointed will meet at the Mayor's office at two o'clock to-day, to consult the members of the committee in behalf of the city, and report at a meeting next Saturday at twelve o'clock.

After which the meeting adjourned.

GUERRILLAS ON THE NASHVILLE RAILROAD. Night before last the down passenger train on the Nashville railroad was thrown off the track and fired into by guerrillas at Rich Pond Grove. Fortunately no one was injured. The guerrillas left after firing one volley.

☞ We understand that Capt. Pulliam, Twenty-seventh Kentucky, with his company, who are now stationed at Hardinsburg, Ky., had a light skirmish with some guerrillas near that place the other day, the guerrillas of course coming off second best.

☞ Secretary Stanton's refusal to send in his annual report to Congress is occasioning pretty harsh comments. The excuse urged for this delinquency is that General Grant desires the delay.

GUERRILLAS IN BLOOMFIELD.—Yesterday morning a squad of guerrillas dashed into Bloomfield, Kentucky, and, after firing several shots at the Federals, they scampered out of town again.

☞ Day before yesterday a lot of Federals and guerrillas had a little "brush" in Singletown. We did not hear whether any one was hurt or not

☞ We learn that a gang of guerrillas were operating in the vicinity of Nottsville a few days ago.

"IT HAS BEEN CURRENTLY REPORTED" that J. M. Armstrong the great clothier, on Main street, opposite the National Hotel, "did" a very big person's trade last year; the consequence has been that every other clothier in town that could get a house in his neighborhood "has opened a clothing store" (as near him as possible); "but it's no use" Armstrong's styles are too well known, and the mere proximity of a store to him will not be anything but to his benefit, as contrasts are the only means by which excellence can be determined. His stock of men's, youths' and children's clothing is now full and complete, and his prices very low, in consequence of recent declines.

Adjoining this land, which is a part of the estate, I have about three hundred acres of splendid grass land in cultivation, which I offer at private sale. It is all under fence and well watered. Persons wishing to raise stock would do well to call and examine this land before purchasing elsewhere.

There are four good large dwelling houses on the premises, and a good storehouse, in which there is at present a fine stock of goods. It is one of the best points for SPECULATING in the State.

XXXVIIIth Congress—Second Session

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.

SENATE.

A bill to increase the compensation of Government contractors was introduced.

The Judiciary Committee reported against the proposition to amend the Constitution by authorizing an export tax.

Also against the provision to recognize the existence of God in the Constitution.

Also against the proposition of Mr. Sumner in relation to a basis of representation.

Mr. Wilson, from the Military Committee, reported a joint resolution to authorize surveys to be made for a ship canal around Niagara Falls, and a canal from Lake Michigan to the Mississippi, recommending this as a substitute for the House bills on those subjects.

The report of the Conference Committee on the Freedmen's bill was considered and rejected by 14 to 20. The Senate insisted on its amendments to the original bill, and called for another committee.

Bill entitled "An act to regulate the commerce between the several States, relating to the Camden and Amboy railroad," was taken up. Nye opposed it.

On motion of Mr. Sprague, the Secretary of War was asked for a copy of the instructions issued for the enrollment of the citizens of Louisiana. Pending further consideration of bill. The Senate went into Executive Session Adjourned.

HOUSE.

Mr. Wilson reported a bill prohibiting the election of Senators and Representatives from States in rebellion till they have adopted a republican form of government, and till Congress pass an act declaring that they are entitled to representation.

A majority opposed the bill.

Mr. Ashley offered a substitute.

The subject was laid on the table.

Mr. Wilson reported from the Committee on Judiciary the Senate resolution to promote enlistments in the army, declaring the wives and children of such colored men as entered the service forever free, and declaring married such men and women as have lived together in that character.

The motion of Mr. Mallory to table the subject was disagreed to by 66 to 77, and the resolution was passed by a strictly party vote.

Mr. Wilson also reported the Senate bill to present officers of the army and navy and others engaged in military and naval service from interfering in elections, which passed by 113 to 19.

The House passed a bill directing a Circuit and District Court to be held at Erie, Pennsylvania.

Mr. Williams, from the Judiciary Committee, reported a bill, that as much of joint resolution, explanatory of an act to suppress insurrection, punish treason, and confiscate property, approved July 17th, 1864; it prohibits forfeiture of real estate of rebels beyond natural life.

The House then adjourned.

NEWBERN, Feb. 19.

The great speech of Mr. Haines, delivered on the 20th ultimo, is attracting much attention. His argument favoring the restoration of the Union is as peerless as it is able. The irresponsible Representatives in the rebel Congress, from Missouri and other States, who have no constitution, and who are assisting to bind fetters on North Carolina. The North being in the best spirits over their present brilliant prospects, will speedily furnish the 300,000 men called for by Mr. Lincoln, who will go to the field with greater alacrity, as soon become excellent soldiers. Inspired as they are with the hope of a speedy success over their enemies, can we recover the majesty of the Confederate States which has been taken from us by the armies of the United States? Can we hold our remaining territory? Can we ever prevent the fall of Richmond, and the capture or destruction of our only remaining army, recruited to the full extent of our white population?

Regarding reconciliation, he said there are those who think that after so much strife and bloodshed that reconcilia ion is impossible. This is a mistake. In the case of England and Scotland, which was in some respects similar to ours, divided as they were into kingdoms at war, effected a reconciliation and started on a new career of prosperity and glory. Such will prove to be our case. The only hope I have ever seen of success in this struggle was that the Northwestern States might be induced to join our Confederacy. The manner in which those States voted in the late Presidential election has dispelled that hope forever, and, in my judgement, has sealed the fate of the Confederacy.

Mr. Haines is a distinguished lawyer, and the author of some able letters which appeared in the Raleigh Standard over the signature of Davison, which attracted so much attention in 1863.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.

The Navy Department has received the following from Admiral Porter:

U. S. FLAGSHIP MALVERN,
CAPE FEAR RIVER, February 9th.

SIR: I have the honor to report the surrender and evacuation of Fort Anderson.

Gen. Schofield advanced from Smithville with 8,000 men on the 17th. At the same time I attacked the works by placing the monitor Montauk close to the works, with the Pancket, Seneca, Unadilla and Pequo, tide and wind not allowing more vessels to get under fire. The fort answered pretty briskly but was quieted down by sunset. On the 18th at 8 o'clock I moved up closer, the Montauk leading, followed by the Huron, Sassacus, Pequot, Ponotnet, Morango, Madilla, Pawtucket, Osceola, Shawmut, Seneca, Chippewa and Little Ada, and kept up a heavy fire through the day till late in the afternoon.

The enemy's batterry's were silenced by 3 o'clock, though we kept up fire till dark, we also fired through the night. In the meantime, General Schofield was working in the rear off the rebels to cut them off, but the latter did not wait for our army to surround them, but left in the night, taking five or six pieces of light artillery with them, and everything else of any value. At daylight this morning, some of our troops that were near by went in and hoisted a flag on the ramparts, when the firing ceased from the monitors. There were ten heavy guns in Fort Anderson, and a quantity of ammunition. We lost three killed and thirty wounded.

I am sir, your obedient servant,
DAVID D. PORTER, Rear Admiral.

To Hon. GIDEON WELLES, Secretary of the Navy.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 15, via CAIRO, 22.

It is rumored and believed that Gen. Hurlbut is preparing to establish his headquarters Department of the Gulf, at Mobile.

Gen. Grainger's expedition against that place is fully prepared to move, and no doubt exists but that the city will be in our hands in two weeks.

Gen. Baldy Smith established his commission here to investigate abuses of this department. Capt. Wahler, quartermaster, and Provost Marshal General Robinson have already been arrested.

Commodore Palmer, commanding Western Blockading Squadron, with fleet of about thirty vessels, mostly iron clads, will leave for Mobile waters in a few days. The ship Vangrard was on the bar eight days, and got off on the 13th, and went to sea.

The ship Ben Adams, which has been lying outside the bar for three weeks, got over yesterday, and is now coming up the river.

The steamship Bermuda arrived to day from Brazos Santiago on the 11th.

The draft under Gen. Canby's order commenced to-day.

The Houston (Texas) Telegraph, of Feb. 8th, publishes the correspondence between the rebel Col. Pyron, commanding at San Antonio, and Gen. Lopez, commanding Maximilians troops on the border of the Rio Grande. The former assures Lopez that it is the desire of his government to cherish most amicable relations with the Imperial government of Mexico; that the intended cordial exchange shall not be disturbed, and thanks the General for protecting the interests of the Confederacy.

Lopez replies, confessing his sympathy for the noble cause of the South and extends his sincere friendship, and adds, being placed in command of this military line under his majesty the Emperor Maximilian, the sons of the Confederacy can rely on full security to their persons and interests and that the Confederacy may rest assured that the representation of the Empire of Mexico along the border frankly offer their friendship, and also a full security that no raid will be permitted to organize on Mexican soil for the invasion of your territory.

The defenses of Galveston are being improved and enlarged.

Cotton buoyant and stiffer. Good ordinary 68, low middling 74. Sea Island 1 05. Sugar and molasses firm at full prices. Large supplies of Western produce have arrived. More in transit.

The Memphis Bulletin of the 20th has a dispatch from Nashville, stating that the district of West Tennessee has been taken from the Department of the Mississippi and added to the Department of the Cumberland.

General Dana commanding the Department of the Mississippi will probably move his headquarters to Vicksburg.

It is reported that General Washburne, now here, will be appointed to command this district.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.

Speaking of the evacuation of Columbia, the Richmond Sentinel of the 20th says: It is said that some of our engraved treasury note paper fell into the hands of the Yankees; also a considerable quantity of medical stores. We have no particulars of these losses, as the official dispatch of the fall of Columbia was not communicated to President Davis, and we doubt whether it was even sent to the War Department, which appears to be in complete ignorance of what has happened in South Carolina, except from what bits of information they have picked up on the street.

On Thursday, the day before the enemy occupied the city, ten trains were run from Charlotte, and it was supposed that the office of the Treasury Department was brought off. It was reported that plates for engraving treasury notes fell into the hands of the enemy, but this report is now traced to some negroes who escaped from Columbia and reached Kingsville, who told the story to a telegraph operator, who sent it as authentic over the wires to Richmond.

Mr. Johnson, agent of the Treasury Department, has communicated to the authorities from Charlotte, and makes no mention of engravers plates.

We understand Grant shows no disposition to assume offensive operations, and has withdrawn from his works this side of Hatcher's Run. The condition of the roads renders the success of any important movement doubtful. The ground is thoroughly thawed and almost impassable for cavalry and artillery, and exceedingly difficult for the movement of infantry.

Scouts from within Grant's lines report the movement of troops backward and forward between our right and City Point. These transfer of troops occur frequently, but are generally for the purpose of relief. It is not likely that any advance on the part of the enemy will be made for several weeks. The enemy is erecting strong works on Hatcher's Run.

The Northern papers make rumors that the Confederates are making Yankee forts in front of Petersburg.

A special dispatch to the Bulletin from Washington, says:

It is said that rebel papers announce that Gen. Sherman's advance has reached Camden, forty miles north of Columbia on Saturday. Camden is northeast of Columbia, about half way to Florence, showing that Sherman is moving for the latter place.

Hardee is evacuating Charleston, and is evidently pressing forward to reach Florence, and thence to Wilmington. The race will be a close one, both starting at the same time. Columbia to Florence is eighty-nine miles, and Charleston to Florence is one hundred and two miles; besides the capture of Fort Anderson gives us the Wilmington end of the Manchester road, and if Hardee beats Sherman to Florence he will have to take the open country for escape.

NEW YORK, Feb, 22.

Advices from the Northern States of Mexico to the 6th represent that the people there are still firm in their adhesion to the constitutional government, and are determined to resist the Imperial invaders. The States of Chihuahua, Sonora and Sinala were entirely clear of any of Maximilian's troops, with the exception of a small force in the town of Mazallan, in the latter State. The city of Chihuahua is the present capital of the republic of Juarez, and his cabinet officers are located there, exercising their functions in security. There are about 16,000 republican troops in the States of Sinala, Durago and Chihuahua, and others in Sonora.

On the 1st of January President Juarez issued a spirited proclamation; declaring his determination to maintain the republic, and encouraging the people to stand firm in its support.

THE DESPAIRING LOVER.

Louisa, since your cruel heart
Forbids me more to woo,
What deed to cure the rankling smart
Should scorned lovers do?

I'll do—what' desperate act will move
That stubborn bosom mos :
I'll do—at' crant me power, O, Jove!
To execute the boast.

I'll do—then drop one willing tear,
Nor cast cold looks about you;
Yes—I'm resolved—too cruel fair—
I'll do—I'll do—without you!

THE ORIGIN OF PETRILEUM.—A NEW THEORY.—There have been a great many theories accounting for the existence of petroleum in the bowels of the earth, all of them ingenious and apparently correct deductions from the results of research, but inquiry has generally shown their falsity. The last theory has a show of reason on its side, and is presented by a contributor to the Pittsburg Commercial. He says that all geologists agree that our bituminous coal has been formed from the prostrated forests of an age long past. We find that, by putting this bituminous coal in a retort, we can obtain the same general character of product as by shaking a well at Oil City. What is left in the retort, after the oil is taken out, is a species of coke.

Arguing from these well known and acknowledged facts, he arrives at the conclusion that what man has attempted to do in a cast iron retort, an all-wise Providence has much more effectually done by the operations of His laws in nature; and that the anthracite coal fields in our own lands, and other lands, are simply what remains in this laboratory of nature, after, by the application of heat below and pressure above, the oil and gases have been driven elsewhere.

The oil thus pressed out has trickled through the crevices of the rocks below these, now anthracite, but once bituminous coal fields, and we find it to-day in the pools and crevices of our oil regions. The anthracite coal which remains answers to our coke. We use it for the same purpose, for melting ores in furnaces, and for melting iron in foundery cupolas, the great difference being that it is vastly superior in quality, a fact not to be wondered at when we remember the laboratory in which it was made and the all-seeing eye that superintended its production. This thing is worthy of attention not only because it may unvail the mysteries of the chemistry of the earth, but also because if correct it will solve one or two other interesting questions concerning internal heat, &c., which will so much advance the cause of science.

TRUTH IN COURTSHIP.—Be true to your lover. I don't mean stick to him; but don't deceive him! Let him know, let her know, what sort of person you really are. Tell each other your faults; make known your real opinions; state yours views of married life, and what you expect to do as married companions. Despise and adjure the humbugging which is almost universal among lovers. Girls keep out of sight all their failings, and do their best to cause their beaux to think them angels, and men bow like slaves to every wish or whim of their lady loves, and seem to live but to make them happy. Now this is not as it ought to be; it will not be so after marriage. The woman will grow weary of acting her prettiest; and the man will not endure all sorts of inconveniences and submit to all sacrifices to please the woman who is securely his own.

It is the dearest pleasure of every true woman to obey and make happy the man she loves, if he is kind and reasonable; but how much better it would be to teach the sweethearts the truth instead of a falsehood as to her future position. I won't say anything more to the girls, for as they have to wait to be wooed and won, and as they have fewer chances than men have, there is more excuse for them to put the best side out; only let them always strive to keep it out, and we have no further controversy with them. But men are without excuse for holding out such pretenses as they do. They are cruel and unwise. Cruel, because the pain which the woman will feel when all his subservience and deference to her is withheld, will be in proportion to the pleasure with which it is received; unwise because it may be such a shock to her as to cause her resolutely to rebel, or silently to cease to love. In either case the husband will be sorely punished for so long ignoring their just relations to each other.—[Lady contributor.

RECIPES TO GET INTO FORT LAFAYETTE.—Discouraging enlistments by asking intended volunteers to take a drink of South-street gin.

Doubting the originality of Old Abe's last joke.

Calling in question Maj. Gen. Butler's ability to take—whisky plain or sardine stew.

By observing in reference to the President's last call for men, that "you wish he may get them."

Expressing disgust at the perennial "quict along the lines."

Disbelieving in the dislocation of the spinal vertebra of the rebellion.

Calling a loyal sutler a swindler and swearing at the patriotism of a conscript.

Suggesting that a Republican Congressman is liable to err—or that a Massachusetts Senator's loyalty is like the cream on New York milk—only skin deep.

[Sunday Mercury.

PURITY OF CHARACTER.—Over the beauty of the plum and the apricot there grows a bloom and beauty more exquisite than the fruit itself—a soft, delicate flush spreads its flushing cheek. Now, if you strike your hand over that, it is gone. The flower that hangs in the morning impearled with dew, arrayed as no queenly woman ever was arrayed with jewels—once shake it so that the beads roll off, and you may sprinkle water over it as you please, yet it can never be again what it was when the dew fell silently on it from heaven. On a frosty morning you may see panes of glass covered with landscape, mountains, lakes, trees, blended in a beautiful picture. Now lay your hand upon the glass, and by the scratch of your finger, or by the warmth of your palm, that delicate tracery will be obliterated. So there is in youth a beauty and purity of character which, when once touched and defiled, can never be restored.

HOW TO JUDGE THE WEATHER BY THE SKY.—The color of the sky at particular times affords wonderfully good guidance. Not only does a rosy sunset presage fair weather and a ruddy sunshine bad weather, but there are other tints which speak with equal clearness and accuracy. A bright yellow sky in the evening indicates wind; a pale yellow, wet; a neutral gray color constitutes a favorable sign in the evening, an unfavorable one in the morning. The clouds are full of meaning in themselves. If their forms are soft, undefined and feathery, the weather will be fine; if the edges are hard, sharp and definite it will be foul. Generally speaking, any deep, unusual hues, betoken wind or rain; while the more quiet and delicate tints bespeak fair weather. Simple as these maxims are, the British Board of Trade has thought fit to publish them for the use of seafaring men.

AN INCIDENT OF THE BATTLE OF NASHVILLE.—A letter writer, in speaking of the grand charge of the Miesouri brigade at the battle of Franklin, says:

"In a few minutes General Cockrill returned, riding his wearied horse, and severely wounded in three places. The horse of Col. Gates, of his brigade, which had so often followed Gen. Cockrill over many a weary mile, turned, and by instinct followed him from the field also, the rider, shot through both arms, being unable to guide him. I shall never forget the steady, calm gaze of this old hero of many a battle field as he sat upon his horse; erect as a statue, his paralized arms hanging to his side. I assisted him from his horse, and he was borne from the battle field."

CATARRH REMEDY

CURE WARRANTED IF DIRECTIONS ARE FOLLOWED. A single Bottle will last a month—to be used three times a day

Symptoms.

The symptoms of Catarrh are at first very slight. Person first has a cold, but they have frequent attacks, and each one is more severe than the last. The cold soon becomes chronic, the discharges are increased in quantity and changed in quality; they are now thick and heavy, and are mucked or mingled with blood; the nostrils are often stopped, sometimes entirely; the breath becomes offensive; taste and smell is lessened or destroyed; deafness frequently takes place.

Other common and important symptoms of Catarrh, that the patient is unable to clear his throat in the morning of thick, ropy mucus, which has fallen from the head during the night. When this takes place the person may be sure that his disease is on its way to the lungs, and should lose no time in arresting it.

These are but few of the many Catarrhal symptoms. Write for our pamphlet describing fully all, mailed free to any address.
